A Course Fit for a King

Stafford Castle Golf Club is located half a mile from Stafford Town Centre and 10 minutes from Junction 13, off the M6. Our Stunning nine hole golf course is one of the best hidden gems in England.

Just 5 minutes from the historic town of Stafford, you will find Stafford Castle, A distinguished club in Staffordshire. Lose Yourself in the game on our stunning golf course, built in 1907. Our Par 71 measuring 6,387.

The Golf Club has great tradition but always welcomes you with a smile. The Golf Course has been in the Stafford family since 1086. The Golf Club derives its name from the slightly forlorn ruins that can be seen from the golf course. The castle can be seen for miles and is a symbol of the Town. The castle built by the Normans in 1100AD.

Originally built by Robert de Toeni, (later known as Robert of Stafford), in the Norman period, Stafford Castle has dominated the local skyline for over 900 years.

In the years shortly after the Norman invasion of 1066, William the Conqueror is believed to have ordered defences to be built against a still hostile and rebellious native community. The fortunes of the castle and its owners, the Stafford family, fluctuated greatly. An impressive example of the motte and bailey system, Stafford Castle enjoyed mixed fortunes throughout the medieval period.

Stafford is steeped in history and dates back to 700BC, on age man settled here because of its rich mineral deposits and vast forests. Things have changed since then in terms of the surrounding countryside. A large forest still exists to the southeast (Cannock Chase) but the rest consists of mainly farmland, marsh and meadow.

A great deal of Iron-age and Roman evidence survives in Stafford and the surrounding area, however much of Stafford's history between 900bc - 800ad is unknown. In the 9th century, Stafford played a central part in the build up of the pottery industry in the Staffordshire area. The early 10th century was dominated by the war against the invading Danes. Aethelflaed, the daughter of King Alfred of Wessex fortified the area and held the Danes back. Her success was largely due to the surrounding marshes and dry hills. The marshes later gave name to the town, Staith Ford, 'ford' by a 'staithe' (landing place).
